

Harold D. Young

Harold D. Young has thirty years of legal experience representing persons in various legal matters. His practice areas include wills and estates, probate, family law, elder law, real estate, small business, corporations, government and, housing.

Harold also served as the Director of the Maryland Office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, his responsibility for enforcing the Fair Housing, Housing and community development laws of HUD. This role presented him with unique opportunities to work with developers on residential, commercial and industrial projects. He negotiated complex housing, economic and community development proposals with local elected officials, consultants, and community residents.

Harold advised the Secretary of HUD, assistant secretaries and other senior departmental officials on specific housing and community development needs.

A graduate of the University of Baltimore School of Law and a member of the Maryland State Bar Association, Harold also holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from Virginia State University and a Master of Arts in Urban Planning and Policy Analysis from Morgan State University.